INTRUDERS BREAK INTO FOUR HOMES

GET $15 AND EATABLES

Money Taken From Clary Home and Food From Loomis House—Local Talent Suspected.

Four residents of Maryville were visited early this morning by uninvited callers, who ransacked some of the places and carried off a little money and a few articles. The houses broken into are in three distant parts of town, two of them being the residences of W. C. Pierce and W. F. Phares near the end of North Main street, another being the home of B. W. Loomis at 530 West Fourth street, and the fourth being the home of L. L. Clary, 524 South Mulberry street.

The Loomis home was entered a little before 4 o'clock and the intruder entered the house through an open back door and secured a jar of jelly, a glass of jelly, a loaf of bread and a spoon. He evidently ate his lunch across the alley in the back yard for the remains were found there this morning.

It is not known what time the intruder entered the Clary home but he secured about fifteen dollars from Mr. Clary's trousers and a purse of Mrs. Clary. However, the thief left the watch of Mr. Clary in his trousers, which he found on the outside of the house this morning.

It was about one o'clock when the prowler entered the home of W. F. Phares on North Main street. Entrance was gained through a screen over a window on the back porch. The man fell down the stairs in the Phares house when his presence was discovered by Mrs. Phares and made a hasty getaway out of the back way of the house. Mr. Phares fired a shot at the man while he was running down his back yard but evidently missed him.

At the Phares home several dresser drawers were pulled out and articles scattered about but nothing was missing.

The house of W. C. Pierce, located the first door north of Phares' was also entered but so far nothing has been found missing. Entrance to the Pierce home was gained through the back door on the back porch and one screen indicated a hole had been cut by the prowler. At the Pierce home no drawers had been opened at all. It was thought there might have been two men in the party, one at Phares' and one at Pierces' and the shot fired by Mr. Phares scared the man away at Pierce's.

Frank Partridge and Frank McKee, night officers, and Sheriff Roach, were called soon after the burglary but were unable to find any clues after searching the railroad yards and other places in the city.

The authorities are of the opinion that it was the work of local talent.

44TH BIRTHDAY FOR BUR. JCT. SUNDAY

TOWN WAS ESTABLISHED, AUGUST 5, 1879

"BABE OF NODAWAY"

The Town Was Sometimes Called—Democrat Files Tell Of Fifth Anniversary

Burlington Junction, Sunday, August 5, 1923, will be 44 years old. A file of the Nodaway Democrat of August 7, 1884 says:

Last Tuesday, the fifth inst., was the fifth anniversary of the queenly city of the Nodaway Valley, sometimes called the "Babe on the Nodaway"—Burlington Junction. The occasion was one in every respect worthy of, and in keeping with the wide awake and enterprising character of its citizens and business men.

On the south-bound train on the Nodaway Valley R. R., five coaches filled with people from Corning and Creston arrived at about eight o'clock. This excursion was under the auspices of the Corning Fire Co. At about nine o'clock the procession marched from the depot to the beautiful grove. The procession was fully half a mile long, and was led by the Junction and Corning bands. Arriving at the grove the audience was called to order by the president of the day, Mr. W. A. Burdick. Mr. W. J. Nelson delivered a very fine speech of welcome to the Iowa guests, which was happily responded to by Mr. Granger of Corning.

About this time an extra from Maryville arrived which carried some 150 to 200 of Maryville people who went out to help their neighbors of the Nodaway to celebrate the anniversary of their city.

After the response of Mr. Granger, Mr. J. H. Bryant, editor of the Post, gave a historical sketch of the city, which was listened to with interest, as follows:

"When the Wabash railroad was built through the country in the spring of 1879, the people predicted that a town would grow up in the Nodaway valley at some point where the railroad crossed it. Acting under this impression a town was laid out half a mile east of the Nodaway river, at the crossing of the old survey of the C. B. & Q. railway with the W., St. L. & P. This town was first called Lewiston, for Prof. Lewis of the Wabash road. It was afterwards changed to Cleveland. But when the second survey of the C. B. & Q. came down the valley and crossed the Wabash at the foot of the hill, a move was immediately put on foot by W. H. Davis and Charles D. Caldwell, that resulted in a partnership between these gentlemen and the C. B. & Q. town company in locating a town on the hill, on the plat of ground then known as the Col. John Davis farm. How this town has struggled to its present importance we will leave to some future historian (getting up a county history bound in morocco) to tell.

The town was surveyed by J. Q. Smith of Plattsmouth, Neb., the C. B. & Q. town lot company surveyor. The first lots were sold on July 2, although the town lot sale, at which 150 lots were sold, was held on the fifth. Geo. H. Hotaling & Co., lumber dealers, was the first firm to open business, Wheeler Bros., O. H. Logan, D. Bailey, Al Gregory, S. J. Butcher, J. N. Penn, Campe & Gibson, Get Hubble, Anderson & Buck and others followed in quick succession.

The postoffice was established October 6, 1879, and the first day's business amounted to nineteen cents in

SEVERAL NEW TEACHERS

Includes Dean of Women, House Mother and Instructor in New Departments—Miss Painter to Return.

Three new departments will be added to the College next year and the students, who return to school this fall, will find several new faculty members, who were not here last year. The following article is taken from this week's Green and White Courier about the new departments and new faculty members:

It is a matter of significance to all interested in the growth of the college that three new departments are to be added for next year. They include the Physics Department, which is being separated from the Chemistry Department; the Department of Sociology and Economics, subjects that have formerly been combined with the History Department; and a new College Dean of Women who will probably teach some subjects as does the Dean of the College, Mr. Colbert.

In addition to these instructors of new departments, there are several new teachers who are filling vacancies on the regular faculty. The entire list includes the following: Miss Edith A. Barnard is to be the Dean of Women. Miss Barnard comes from Columbia University, New York City, where she has been teaching for the past three years. She holds a Bachelors degree from the University of Michigan and a Master's degree from Columbia University, New York. She had offers from two of the largest universities in America as well as from other institutions at the time she was offered the position here. Mrs. A. R. Perrin will continue in the position she now occupies of looking after the interests of the college girls in boarding and rooming houses over town.

Mrs. Louise B. Hastings, the new house mother of Residence Hall, has a B. L. degree from Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio, and an A. M. degree from Teachers' College, Columbia University. Mrs. Hastings has been an active worker among girls' organizations for a number of years.

James R. Wallin is the new instructor of Sociology and Economics. He has received an LL. B. degree from the University of Washington at Seattle, a B. S. degree from the same institution, and a Master's degree from the University of Wisconsin. He has completed all residence work for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy except one semester. Mr. Wallin has had considerable teaching experience.

J. W. Hake will have charge of the Physics Department. He received his B. S. from Central Wesleyan College B. A. from University of Illinois, and M. A. from Northwestern University and has completed the residence work for a Ph. D. at the University of Minnesota. Before coming to Maryville at the beginning of the summer quarter, Mr. Hake held the position of Assistant Professor of Physics in Carleton College, Northfield, Minnesota.

William Larson, at present a member of the University of Nebraska takes the position as director of the Band and Orchestra Department, to succeed Mr. Kutschinski. Mr. Larson is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, holding an A. B. degree, and is also a graduate of the Molzer Violin School. In addition to the violin he is also proficient on the cornet and clarinet. He has had a large experience in giving class lessons in band and orchestral instruments and will introduce that work here.

Miss Gladys Andrews will assist in the Music Department the ensuing year during the absence of Miss Wilfley, who will study in New York City. Miss Andrews is a graduate of Howard Payne College at Fayette, Mo. She has had work with Mary Chase of Chicago, and has studied the Dunning system at Kansas City under Miss Littlefield. She has taught the Dunning system at Howard-Payne for the past three years.

Miss Estella Bowman, who has assisted in the English Department for the past two summers will be added to the English faculty next year. She has taught in Central High School in St. Joseph for the past year. She is a graduate of Washburn College, Topeka, and has done graduate work in the University of Kansas, the University of Wisconsin, the University of Colorado and Columbia University, New York.

Miss Anna M. Painter, who has been studying at the Sorbonne, Paris, France, will return in September to serve as acting head of the department during Miss Winn's absence.

Miss Mary M. Fisher is a graduate of the University of Missouri, having a B. S. degree from there. She has also done work in Columbia University, New York. Miss Fisher has taugh Manual Training in the college here for the past two terms and is to continue her work in the college next year.

MO. CODE PARLEY DISCUSSES COURTS

M. E. FORD WRITES OF CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

REPORT FINALLY ADOPTED

After Two Had Been Rejected—Mr. Ford Tells Of Needed Changes In Courts

To The Democrat-Forum

Jefferson City, Mo., July 31—In a former letter I wrote concerning the report of the Judiciary Committee that was then before the Convention. This was a rather elaborate report and undertook to provide a complete system of courts for the whole state, and from the highest to the lowest. It met with the most violent opposition.

In my judgment it was a splendid report though I felt at the time that the plan was wrong. To attempt to provide a complete system of courts to meet all the varying conditions existing in this state is to undertake to do the well nigh impossible. Naturally each delegate saw the whole state from the standpoint of his own county. He felt that what suited his district must suit all the rest of the state. There was but little trouble over the higher courts. It was the system of inferior courts that gave us all the trouble.

Some wanted to do away with the probate courts and have one trial court. This is the ideal system, if it could be worked out. Others wanted to do away with the probate court and the present county court and have a county court patterned after that of Nebraska, Kansas Oklahoma and some other states. Others wanted to retain the present system except give the probate court enlarged jurisdiction. My own judgment was that we ought not to try to provide a complete system of courts. That we ought to provide for the higher courts and leave it to the General Assembly to provide such inferior courts as the needs of the various communities might require. Many of the delegates looked upon this as an effort to "pass the buck" to the General Assembly. It does not seem to me to be so. But if it is then the framers of the Constitution of the United States were the ones to set the example and it was followed by all the early constitution makers.

Two Reports Rejected

After months of struggle and after having two reports rejected by the convention the judiciary committee finally adopted the plan of providing a short article on the judiciary and providing for the principal courts only. The Supreme Court is retained as at present organized except that the Chief Justice is elected to be Chief Justice and retains that position throughout his term. An additional division of the St. Louis Court of Appeals is provided for and the Court Commissioners done away with and the General Assembly is given power to create another division of the K. C. Court ofAppeals or an additional Court of Appeals.

Law Must Change

The General Assembly can also enlarge the jurisdiction of the Courts of Appeals. This will undoubtedly provide for the appellate business of the state for all future time unless the business increased to an enormous extent. It further provides for Circuit Courts and such other courts as may be provided by law. This leaves the judicial system so flexible that the future needs of the state can be provided for without the necessity of amending the constitution. The present system of courts is continued until changed by law. No doubt one of the first changes to be made, if the report is accepted and the new Constitution is adopted, will

ALL WOMEN NEED PHYSICAL TRAINING

EXERCISE MAKES BEAUTY

Women Can Make Better Wages When Physically Fit—Must Prepare For Motherhood

"Physical training is more important for girls than it is for boys," declared Dr. Henry S. Curtis, state director of physical education, to the students at the State Teachers College this morning.

"There are three reasons why this is true," Dr. Curtis continued. "The first is that physical training makes for good looks, and beauty is more essential for girls than boys. But the physical development of the girls should begin when she is five or six years old.

"The second reason why physical education is so important for the girls is on account of wages. There are 12 per cent more girls who have been graduated from high school than boys, and yet the women are getting far less money for their work. This is undoubtedly due to a large extent at least, to the poor health of the women workers."

Dr. Curtis said that the third reason why women should be physically fit is on account of motherhood. He said that a healthy mother insures a healthy child and that the women of today owed it to future generations to keep themselves physically fit.

The speaker compared the activity of children in the elementary and high schools and said that a child between four and six years old walked, on the average, about seventy miles a week. High school students, he said, did not walk near as much and were far less active. He declared that physical training was more important in the elementary schools than in high school, because the younger children needed some method of expending the vast amount of stored up energy.

"A little child cannot keep still for more than one minute at a time," asserted Dr. Curtis, "and this explains why children 8 or 9 years old do not like to go to school—because they have to sit still for a long period of time. In some of the elementary grades, we require them to sit still for an hour and a half at a time. They soon become restless and their interest in school work is greatly reduced."

It would be good pedagogy, the speaker said, for a teacher to watch a little child, 5 years old, for a half hour. The youngster would make hundreds of movements, Dr. Curtis said. There is nothing more abnormal than to ask a little child to sit still for a long period of time, the speaker continued.

Dr. Curtis then told of the importance of a playground and what it meant to the growing child. He declared that two-thirds of all the trees on the school-grounds should be taken off, because they do not leave enough open space to play in. The children need a baseball diamond volley ball court, running track and other means of play.

The speaker said that the women of America have been handicapped by the type of clothes they wear. Women's physical inferiority is largely due to the type of life she is living, Dr. Curtis contended. A course in girls' athletics should be given in every grade of the elementary schools, he added. The play should be personally supervised by the teacher in charge of the particular class.

The state director of physical education said that there are four conditions that should determine the type of physical training which is used on the schoolground. School athletics should develop the type of training that we have the most use for; there should be the type of play that could easily be had on the schoolgrounds; there should be plays in which all of the classes can participate, and finally, there should be the kind of play that can be used after school hours and ca nbe carried on even after school life.

Dr. Curtis then told of the benefits of volley ball and said that it could be played by every member of the family. A volley ball should be possessed by every class in the elementary schools, he said, and a thorough knowledge of baseball, basketball, football, volley ball and tennis

FRANCO-BRITISH BREAK IS NEAR

ENGLISH WILL ACT INDEPENDENTLY ON GERMAN REPARATION

TO LEAVE FRANCE ALONE

Italy and Belgium Expected To Follow Britain—May Break Up Old Entente

By Frank Charlton
Foreign News Editor, International News Service

Semi-official news from London that Great Britain virtually has decided to abandon France and to make a separate reparation agreement with Germany, may prove the most momentous step in European politics since the Versailles Treaty was signed.

It would put France and Great Britain farther apart than they have been at any time since the war and virtually mean the snapping of the last link of the old Entente Cordiale.

However, it will not be officially known until Premier Stanley Baldwin makes his formal announcement in Parliament just what course Great Britain will pursue and what methods will be employed in putting it into effect.

Should Britain make a separate treaty thus following in the footsteps of America, France would be left isolated on the reparations issue for it is confidently expected in London that Italy will support the British view and ultimately Belgium is expected to come to the British side.

Even if Great Britain decides upon an independent course it will be impossible for any reparations to be forthcoming from Germany for a long time. The source of German wealth is in the hands of the French and France intends to hold on to them until Germany pays up. The chief seat of German wealth is in the Ruhr and Saar coal fields and the rich industrial belt of Westphalia, Prussia, all of which is occupied by the French troops, supported by the Belgians.

In view of this fact, the best that Great Britain could hope would be to lighten Germany's financial burden by promising to wait indefinitely for her share of reparations or perhaps cancelling some under certain conditions in return for trade concessions.

The chief aim of the British government is to prevent Germany's collapse and plunging into the vortex of civil war or perhaps a red revolution which would be playing into Russia's hand.

London, August 1—Following a cabinet meeting, it was learned in semi-official sources this afternoon that Great Britain has practically decided to make a separate reparations agreement with Germany.

A strong faction of the cabinet maintained that the French note failed to advance the reparations issue towards a solution and advised that England send a separate note to Berlin in reply to the German note of June 7.

Premier Stanley Baldwin is hopeful that a separate Anglo German reparation agreement will not break down the Anglo-French entente.

Although the Premier believes that further negotiations with France is useless, the cabinet members will remain in almost continuous session for the next twenty-four hours framing a statement which may induce France to renew diplomatic conversations in a more conciliatory mood.

The Premier will make a statement in the House of Commons tomorrow, according to the present plans.

HARDING NOW ON ROAD TO RECOVERY

FURTHER IMPROVEMENT TODAY GRATIFIES PHYSICIANS

GAINING MORE STRENGTH

Temperature Almost Normal, Respiration Better, Lungs Improved and Pulse Lower—Taking Food

San Francisco, Aug. 1.—President Harding made further progress today on the road to recovery from the illness which has kept him bedfast for the past five days.

While expressing great gratification at the marked improvement in the President's condition in the past two days, the five attending physicians put into today's official medical bulletin a slight note of caution.

"While progress is being made," the bulletin said, "every care is necessary to assure freedom from complications."

This care, it is needless to say, is being scrupulously given and while the physicians shied at the prediction as to what date the possible start back to Washington would be, the general belief prevails that not until next week will the return journey begin.

Today's medical announcement reported that the last vestige of fever has almost disappeared. His temperature was 99 this morning, only .4 of a degree above normal and now considered a negligible factor.

His lungs continue about the same as yesterday, white patches disclosing evidence of the bronchial pneumonia disappearing.

There is still much exhaustion, it was stated, but the two good nights of sleep in succession has remedied the utter exhaustion which was so apparent when he first came here. His normal buoyant spirit is rapidly beginning to show itself.

The respiration took an appreciable drop of ten degrees between 8 a. m. and 10 a. m. and the physicians gained a great deal of satisfaction from this fact. The normal respiration is about 18 and Mr. Harding's has been around 40 to 50, since his illness, being so irregular, but this morning had dropped to 30 and was regular. His pulse was 114, still high although lower than it has been.

Small amounts of food are being taken regularly, adding steadily to his strength. The elimination of poison and waste from the body was considered by the medical staff.

While the medical bulletin did not say so in so many words, his physicains consider him as getting along "swimmingly."

Mr. Harding's improvement has been steady, not precipitant, and this, they believe, means that the improvement noted, will be maintained. His great vitality, always one of his marked characteristics, is beginning to assert itself against the combination of illnesses.

San Francisco, August 1—President Harding had a restful night, obtaining an appreciable amount of refreshing sleep and continued to show improvement this morning, it was announced by Dr. Charles E. Sawyer, his chief physician at 8 o'clock this morning.

The President's temperature this morning after a restful night, was 99, a drop from a 100.2 degrees reported in the last medical bulletin at 11 o'clock last night. His pulse was 114 compared to 116 last night and hi srespiration was unchanged at 40.

Dr. Sawyer declined to make any spcific comment upon the President's condition until after the usual morning consultation with Drs. Wilber, Cooper, Boone and Work, but promised a medical bulletin at 10 o'clock.

The optimism that has been so apparent since yesterday and confirmed partly by the physicians that Mr. Harding has passed the worst of his illness, was still apparent this morning and the belief is prevalent that nightfall will see the President considerably progressed on the road to recovery.

The long rest of the President last night was the source of much gratification to the attending physicians.

"Please try to get my son a position, as boss of some kind. He always liked to be over others. He is a born 'leader.' "

So wrote a father, says The Kansas City Star in sending his son, just out of school, to an acquaintance employed in a large business establishment. The son himself had only vague ideas about what he wanted to do; it so happened that he was prepared to qualify, perhaps, as second office boy in the establishment. But he had the feeling, encouraged by the father, that he ought to begin somewhere "higher up."

He didn't think of what he knew, or did not know, about the business. His idea was that details did not matter; that he could "boss" all right, and leave details, the actual work, to others. He shared the beautifully logical theory that it would be a whole lot simpler if people who build pyramids, houses, rock chimneys, or success in life, would just begin at the top, instead of way down at the bottom where nobody could see what they are doing.

2,000 Attending Citizens' Camp

Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., Aug. 1.—With 1,800 of the 2,000 young men who are enlisted to take the thirty days training course at the citizens' military training camp engaged in duties attending the opening day and the rest expected tomorrow morning, the "war" began today.

Fifty per cent of the soldiers are from Arkansas. The others are from all parts of Missouri and Kansas.

Many of these enrolled for the month's training saw active service overseas and are here to get another taste of army life.

Army officers at the camp say there will be no guardhouse, as the unruly ones will be sent home.

Appraising Damages of Proposed Road Today

A board of appraisers, consisting of Ray Stewart of Bedison, J. T. Logan of Skidmore and Guy Humphrey of Burlington Junction, together with George S. Miller, highway engineer, are appraising the damages this afternoon of a proposed road, near the John Gallagher farm, five miles east of Maryville. Gallagher desires a road constructed to a piece of timber land which he owns. A report of the amount of damages incurred will be made to Fred Smith, county clerk.

Sister Mary Evangelist of Dubuque, Ia., the Rev. Father Edmond Cummins of Perry, Miss Ann Kennedy of Plattsburg, Miss Kate Vaughn and Miss Irene Tobin of Maryville were week end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Tobin, near Burlington Junction.

Harmony

Clinton Adams, wife and little son from near Wilcox visited at the home of his brother, Robert Adams, Sunday.

Well, why not drag the roads.

Harry Lewis came down from Creston, Iowa the last of the week, and accompanied his wife and little daughter, Frances home, Tuesday. Harry is in the employ of the C. B. & Q. R. R. at that place.

Miss Helen Claycomb and Darrel Porter were quietly married at the parsonage last Thursday by the Rev. R. Underwood. This fine young couple is well and favorably known around here and their many friends join in wishing them a happy matrimonial career. The "infare" was held at the home of J. E. Porter, father of the groom, Sunday afternoon, the tables being placed on the shady lawn, where they were soon surrounded by the many friends of the happy couple. They will leave soon for a honeymoon trip to points in Colorado, and it is rumored that they will reside in Colorado Springs.

The families of John Green and Robert Adams were transacting business in Skidmore last Thursday.

Mrs. Lee Wynn spent several days last week in Grant City in attendance on the wife of her brother, Reuben Anderson, who is critically ill from a complication of diseases. Mrs. Wynn returned home Saturday and went to Grant City again Monday.

Sorenus Adams, the 6-year-old son of Robert Adams and wife, fell from a pony and broke both bones in the left forearm Monday. He was taken to Maryville at once, where the fracture was set. The doctor called it a green bone fracture and predicted his early recovery.

A good congregation attended both Sunday School and the preaching service Sunday morning. "The Harmony Male Trio" sang a special number and the congregational singing was a feature of the service also. The thought of the morning discourse was that lack of confidence was the cause of most of the world's troubles. In the evening hour the pastor gave some of the details of the recent International C. E. convention at Des Moines which he attended. The C. E. in the evening was led by Miss Leatha Lawson, the subject being Industrial Missions. Next Sunday there will be a meeting of all the members of the church to select a delegate to the Annual Conference, which meets next month in Millersburg, Iowa. It is hoped that there will be a full attendance.

Guilford McKee made a flying trip to Maryville Wednesday morning of last week.

Missouri ought to have an alkali lake in which to preserve her antedilivians, instead of keeping them in office.

John Green, Robert Adams, Ernest Woodburn, Fred and Ralph Curfman, made up a fishing party to Platte river Thursday afternoon. They were joined there by J. S. and Fay Casteel. About fifty pounds of fish were taken, one old lunker being an eighteen pound cat fish that took the combined efforts of the gang to land him. He sho' was a whopper!

R. V. McKee was trading in Ravenwood Wednesday afternoon.

Chas. Strader and family of Maryville were in attendance at the morning service last Sunday.

Several fields of timothy will be threshed for seed in this vicinity this year. The heads are large and well filled.

Ira Kelly and family of the Long Branch neighborhood attended church at Harmony, Sunday morning.

E. E. Saunders drove to Grant City last Thursday.

Now the Lumber Trust has been "busted"—let's see what will happen.

A meeting of the Sunday School workers of the new district association comprising the Sunday schools in Ravenwood and Conception and Harmony will be held at the Harmony Church Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock p. m. At this meeting the plans and problems of the work for the coming year will be discussed. It is hoped to have a good representation from the different Sunday schools of the district.

Hazel Cox spent the week end at home and had charge of the regular choir practice Saturday evening. She and the rest of the family of B. S. Cox visited friends in Maryville Sunday afternoon, the occasion being the wedding anniversary of his father and mother.

The assembly this morning was the last one which will be held during the present summer session, as the school will close tomorrow afternoon.

T. H. Annett gave a piano solo, and C. D. Kutschinski, a violin solo, during the program this morning.

President Lamkin, in a concluding speech said that this had been the best summer session in the history of the local educational institution. He declared that the faculty of the summer session would rank with the regular faculty in preparation, personality and punch. The students this summer were of an unasually high type, he added.

"We hope that the students who go out from the College ehre will be leaders in the American citizenship of Northwestern Missouri," President Lamkin concluded, "and we hope that they will stand for the highest mental, physical and moral ideals for a greater commonwealth."

Motion pictures of the Northwest Missouri track and friield meet held in Maryville this year, were shown at the assembly this morning. This film will be shown at the various high schools in this section of the state.

2 Die, 3 Burned Fatally in Fire

The injured are: Mrs. Pearl Jacobs, 26, daughter of Mrs. Carbaugh, Miss Catherine Jacobs, 11, Kellar Carbaugh, 19 and John Carbaugh.

Geraldine Carbaugh was in the kitchen starting a fire in the cookstove to prepare the family breakfast. She had a can of oil in her hand that overturned into the fire, exploding. The body of the girl was found later by firemen burned to a crisp.

Perfumes Will Add Reality to Motion Pictures

Pleasant odors, typical of the scene being shown, may be used in motion-picture theaters shortly, to add reality to the screened picture story. This will be accomplished by working keys at the organ, which will be connected to suitable spraying apparatus. When an ocean scene appears, the bracing odor of salt air, with its pleasant tang, will be wafted through the theater, as a natural accompaniment of the setting. Similarly, a country background will call forth the characteristic fragrance of freshly mown hay. Exotic perfumes and incense will be used in Oriental presentations.

Use Radio on Motorcycles to Catch Bandits

Radio-equipped motorcycles have been put into service in the East to cope with automobile bandits. Aerials in the form of a loop are attached to a sidecar which also carries the receiving apparatus. Two men are detailed to each machine, one to drive and the other to act as radio operator. By the use of the radio, police headquarters are able to keep in touch with each machine and direct its movements.

"Loud Speaker" Guides Vessels to Port

Marine engineers at an English port have devised a voice-amplifying apparatus, which, it is claimed, greatly reduces the danger of accidents to large vessels approaching their docks in a busy harbor. With the new loud speaker, a dock superintendent may throw his voice out over a long stretch of water to the helmsman of an incoming ship. Complete docking directions can be given in much less time than is required when whistles and bells are used. The amplifier is so large that a crane is necessary to swing it into position for use. An attendant, mounted on the hoist, points the instrument in the proper direction.

Removing Headlamp Rims

When it becomes necessary to remove automobile headlamp rims, it will frequently be found that they are so rusted that they cannot readily be turned by hand. This is due to the fact that insufficient "grip" is obtained because of the high polish of the nickel or enamel.

Before applying tools, which may mar the finish of the rims, apply a strip of friction tape around the entire outer edge, and try again. In most cases the rim will readily come off. After the rim has been replaced, the tape is removed, and the adhesive cleaned from the nickel or enamel surface with gasoline.

Simple Portable, Adjustable Base for Farm Engines

The problem of holding down a gasoline engine, without resorting to the usual method of bolting it to the floor, was solved by the portable and adjustable base shown in the drawing. Two heavy wooden beams are bolted to the underside of the engine, their ends projecting far enough to be used as handles. Two similar beams, somewhat shorter, are permanently attached to the floor so that those on the engine will fit between them. A removable rod is then pushed through holes drilled in all four beams, to lock them together and hold the engine down securely. One hole is drilled through each outside beam and a series of holes through the inner ones so that the two base members can be locked together at different points, to obtain proper belt tension. Floor beams of the same type are attached near every engine-driven machine, so that, to attach the engine, it is only necessary to slide it into place and slip in the rod.

sale of stamps. The lucky one who amassed a fortune by getting his sixty-five per cent of this enormous day's business is our present postmaster, I. B. Crissinger, sometimes referred to as "Old Baldy," at present a prominent candidate for county judge.

The first marriage was on May 17, 1880, and was solemnized by Esq. J. H. Herriff. The contracting parties were Miss Hester Shaffell and A. J. Smith, better known as "Smit, the baker." The first birth was twins—we never do things by halves, you know—born to Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wilson, August 31, 1879. The first death was that of Ed Hogan, first local editor of the Post, who was shot by Otto Sharp October 9, 1879; the second local, known as the "Fat Editor," still lives in spite of the sharpest flats and czke. Let us remark right here on the healthfulness of our town—they "killed a man to start a graveyard."

The first number of the Burlington Junction Post was issue don Aug. 27, 1879, by Frank Seaman & Co. The present proprietors bought the paper two months later, Oct. 24. It has never missed an issue or came out behind time, although tornadoed July 13, 1883, one hour before press time. It is like a "family organ"—thumping away all the time.

Our city has grown in the five years to 1,200 inhabitants with its business interests accordingly, with three church spires and a school house on the hill and no saloon in the valley, without Sabbath schools and Band of Hope, verifies the poet's gem thought, "They most live who think most, feel the noblest, act the best."

The orator of the day was Prof. John S. Crosby of St. Joseph. Afternoon speakers were Elder E. B. Cake, Hon. John Edwards, James Todd and Henry C. Burnett."

A Chance to Lose Chautauqua Berth

Maryville stands a chance of being dropped from the super-chautauqua circuit of the Redpath-Vawter if it fails to make its goal in the sale of season tickets, according to a letter received by the committee this morning from Keith Vawter. A portion of the letter says:

"Any town whose 1923 advance sale of tickets is less than $1,900 is a marked town—one which is liable to be included in the ten towns to be dropped for better ones.

"Do you know that we have ten new towns this year; they are promising ones, too. One of them reached a total of $2,733.40. Can you blame us for dropping towns that show a loss for years that we may take on such as this one?

"Under our co-operative contract we can't carry towns showing a loss. You see we have to absorb all losses ourselves while we have to divide with you on the big ones.

"Keep this in mind—our guarantee is 70 per cent of actual costs—no profit included; then we get the receipts up to cost, plus our booking commission of 10 per cent, after which we divided 50-50. Not much chance for big profits, is there?"

The committee in charge of the ticket sale announced at noon today that 200 adult tickets and 35 children's tickets had been sold. While this is a small number the committee reports a favorable sale in t he distrists that have been canvassed but a favorable sale in the districts that have been worked on account of the shortage of canvassers.

Every child that has purchased a child's ticket will be given a red and white cap if the ticket is presented at D. E. Hotchkin's store.

Parrot Here Today Going to Barnard

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. DeKant and wife of Stuttgart, Ark., accompanied by their parrot, Max, were visitors in Maryville today. They are motoring to Barnard and will participate in the Barnard Picnic which will be Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Quite a crowd was attracted to the car by the parrot which occupied a seat of dignity on the wind shield. Max was very sleepy after traveling most of the day but consented to do a few stunts for the audience.

According to one boy, who was watching the scene, the "Kissing Act" was a thriller. Max gave his keeper an honest to goodness kiss in much the same way as the girls of today would. He whistled a tune, said hello and then hopped back up on his perch. Mr. DeKant said they never had to keep a cage for Max.

The DeKants are doing a free act consisting of wire walking and stunts, the parrot takes part in these stunts.

ENGELMANN'S QUALITY GLADIOLUS

Visitors the last few days who had previously visited the large plantings of gladiolus in St. Joseph, Nebraska City, Shenandoah and Waterloo say they are surprised at both the quality and variety of our gladiolus. We have taken many orders for bulbs for spring 1924 delivery. We have been surprised at the number of people who travel through here that stop and look our gladiolus over. At least 85% of our visitors have been people who travel and have previously seen other plantings. The Gladioli is the leading summer cut flower for any occasion. They can be apropriately arranged for any occasion. Reasonable in price. Engelmann's for Quality.

SWIMMING INSTRUCTIONS

How should the legs be used in the trudgeon stroke?

Answered by
BILL BACHRACH

Illinois Athletic Club; most famous and successful of all swimming coaches; has turned out champions such as Johnny Weissmuller, world's fastest swimmer; Norman Ross, Sibyl Bauer, Perry McGillivray, Harry Hebner, Arthur Raithel, Bob Skelton, and Mike McDermott.

Make the bottom leg, which is the right leg if you swim on the right side do most of the work. The top or left leg is chiefly a foil. From a position with the legs extended full to the rear, the body lying flat on the water, the right knee is bent and opened wide from the left leg which is held straight but not rigid. As the body rolls up to the left and the top arm finishes its sweep, the right leg kicks suddenly to a straight position. It swings close to the left foot and past it in a "follow through." This is the famous scissors kick. The kick is executed simultaneously with the pull of the top arm, and in the simple stroke there is only one kick to each revolution of the arms.

Dodge Brothers Plan Large Production

New Buildings, Greatly Increasing Present Capacity, Almost Completed—Big Expansion Program.

An immense new assembly building, duplicating the present structure in size, is announced by Dodge Brothers as the principal unit of the 1923 expansion program.

The building is six stories high, 1,000 feet long and 75 feet wide, with more than one-half million square feet of floor space. Construction work which started some months ago is now nearly completed. The new assembly building paralleling the old structure, is just across the street which formerly marked the boundary line of the great Dodge Brothers factories.

Other units of the expansion program are the new cyanide building, a million dollar addition to the power house, and a mammoth new closed body building. The latter is completed, several floors having been occupied for some time. It is estimated that the total investment represented by these additions, in buildings alone, will reach $5,000,000.

The erection of the body building in the short space of four months established a record. Considering the fact that it is an eight story building 400 x200 feet in dimension, with a total floor space of 500,000 square feet, the time is exceptionally short.

Some idea of the magnitude of the undertaking may be gleaned from the fact that 30,000 barrels of cement and 16,000 cubic yards of concrete were used in the building, as well as 4,000 tons of construction steel; 1,464 tons of reinforcing steel; 38,000 window lights; 500,000 feet of maple flooring, and 600,000 bricks. There are seven traveling cranes ranging from five tons to twenty tons in capacity, and four 10-ton high speed elevators, capable of traveling 400 feet a minute loaded. The building is heated by the indirect system, fans forcing the washed air down various ducts after it is heated by steam pipes on the roof. Fire protection is insured by 10,000 smaller sprinkler heads. All stairways are safety treaded.

While this unit is an enormous building in itself, it is in reality only half a building. The other half was completed two years ago. Taken as a whole the building is one of the largest single factory units in the world, with a floor area of a million square feet. It will be devoted entirely to the production of all steel bodies—a type of construction originated by and for Dodge Brothers.

What is your advice to the average golfer when in a sand trap?

Answered by
TOM KERRIGAN

Professional Siwanoy Country Club, Mount Vernon, N. Y. A consistent place winner in big tournaments. In British Open, 1921, he finished third, two points behind Hutchison and Wethered, tied for first.

Always aim to get out of the trap in one stroke. The proper club to use is a heavy niblick, and the proper way to play the shot is to hit the sand behind the ball, not the ball. The closer the player is to the hole, the more sand he must take.

$65,000 Prize Money at American Royal

Over $65,000 prize money will be offered by the American Royal Live Stock Show, to be held in Kansas City, Mo., November 17-24, 1923.

Over $25,000 in premium money is being offered for four breeds of beef cattle—besides a number of silver trophies valued at over $2,000.

The cash offered in the cattle carlot classes exceeds $7,000.

Over $7,500 is being offered for six breeds of hogs. The cash offerings in the carlot swine classes amount to $1,800.

Over $2,100 is being offered for seven breeds of sheep, while the offerings in the carlot sheep classes will be $740.

For draft horses and mules, the offerings are $7,800 for the four principal horse breeds and mules.

For the evening horse show, there will be $14,000 to attract the large and small stables.

One very important addition has been made in the offerings of a class for boys and girls live stock clubs of Kansas City's trade territory. This is being fostered by the Kansas City Live Stock Exchange with offerings of $1,000, besides which there is being offered by others $800 in cash prizes, in addition to special trophies.

College students have opportunities of winning cash prizes in live stock judging contests, and herdsmen, grooms and shepherds are offered special cash prizes for best kept and most appropriately decorted exhibits of their live stock.

Communication

The Farmer Will Fight Back

Farmers as a class are conservative both in their beliefs and practices. This fact has made them always the most dependable element in the Nation. Radicalism has never appealed to them. It is true that for a short period in times past they have shown a tendency to take the reins and drive, but always with abundant cause. It would be queer, with all they have borne, in the past three years, if our Farmers should not protest.

They have seen their markets lower and lower and at the same time the things they buy have continued high, for the local merchant cannot and does not control wholesale markets. The cause of high prices is neither with the farmer nor the local merchant.

The labor organizations of the country in the factory, mill, and packing house, have been able to enforce a wage much higher than is possible on the farm. Yet the employer does not pay the increased high wages to his labor, but adds it to his price and passes it along to the consumer. Likewise the government enforces income taxes, which proprietors add to their expense and the consumer pays. When bond issues are made for this and that, owners of property protect themselves from the tax voted upon them by others and the very fellow who thought he was voting a tax upon property owners, finds that he pays increased rental so that the tax or the bond issue he voted on the other fellow boomerangs to him who started it.

In Minnesota and other states there has recently been elections that have elected those who, if not eminently qualified for the jobs they are to hold, serve the purpose of giving notice to the country that the farmer knows he is hit and that he is going to hit back, even if he misses the mark now and then. Even at that, chances are he won't miss the mark any more than a lot of those who have gone before and will come hereafter. Why should not the farmers protest conditions. Are they called upon to feed the city man cheaply any more than the city man is called upon to provide the farmer with what he buys, cheaply? One trouble is the farmer has been willing to pay the high prices asked of him. Now has come the day of reckoning. The farmer is asking—If the trouble lies in the fact that Europe has neither cash nor credit, if that is it, why don't it affect factory wares the same way? Is Europe buying manufactured articles and finding cash or credit for them and cannot do the same thing for foodstuffs which they must have? Hardly probable. Then how can high prices be maintained on manufactured articles and not on farm products? That is just exactly what the farmer cannot see nor understand and that is the very reason he is out hunting with a club for the fellows who have been whacking it to him. More strength to his arm and may he wield it well. The farmer has concluded that if he is not to be respected, he can at least be feared and in that can be found the cause why he has the big stick in his hand now. No use to say, "The farmer doesn't know what he is doing." Maybe not, but he has good cause to think he knows what the other fellows have been doing. That is the whole explanation of the farmers departure from the first statement in this article.

On St. Joseph Market.

From Nodaway County shipments of stock was sent in for Tuesday's market by C. D. Caldwell, E. F. Caldwell, J. R. Plummer, Leonard Houston, Bank of Skidmore, Earl Stevenson, W. A. Haynes.—St. Joseph Stock Yards Journal.

A New Buick Out Today Shows Changes

The new 1924 Buick is bowing to the public today in an entirely new "suit," four wheel brakes and many changes in its mechanical construction. The price, as yet unannounced from the factory will be slightly higher than last year's model.

The most impressive change is the new body and the new radiator, influenced, the makers say, by foreign motor car design. The chassis in both fours and sixes is longer. The departure in radiator and hood contour applies to all fourteen new body models. The 6-cylinder valve-in-head motor has been so redesigned it yields 50 per cent more power and a speed up to seventy miles an hour, its makers assert. Larger cylinder bore, forced feed lubrication, which includes automatic lubrication of the rocker arms, valve stem and springs, larger valves and a new carburetor, are some of the mechanical changes.

The extension to all four wheels of the external brakes on all the new Buick models is evidence that General Motors is convinced it has developed a successful change in braking arrangement. The factory engineers are convinced of their superiority over 2-wheel brakes, especially in stopping a car on wet streets without skidding.

Of the fourteen body types, ten are mounted on the 6-cylinder chassis and four on the 4-cylinder chassis. Two new inclosed models on the 6-cylinder chassis are the 5-passenger sedan and a 5-passenger brougham touring sedan. A 5 and 7 passenger are available in the open touring models.

MO. CODL PARLEY DISCUSSES COURTS

be to transfer jurisdiction of all Juvenile matters to the Probate Court.

First Juvenile Court

The first Juvenile Court law was enacted in 1913 and the jurisdiction was vested in the probate court. The Supreme Court spoke in the very highest terms of this law but held it unconstitutional. A new law was enacted giving this jurisdiction to the Circuit Court. This law has never been satisfactory. A Circuit Judge whose circuit covers several counties can not be running from one county to another to attend to these matters. It ought to be in the hands of a local judge who can keep in touch with the delinquent and see that the measures adopted are having the desired result and if not to take some other action.

Court For Minor Cases

There is also great need for an inferior court to try cases of minor importance. When the Constitution of 1875 was adopted and for sometime after the J. P. Courts were courts of some importance. The older generation of lawyers tried a great many cases in the J. P. Courts. Now the common practice is to let such cases go by default and then appeal them to the Circuit Court. There ought to be some minor court provided to try these cases and in that way greatly lessen the work of the Circuit Court and also lessen the expense to the people and parties litigant. The present constitution is so rigid in its provisions that these pressing needs of the people can not be met.

The Circuit Court

The Circuit Court has always been our principal trial court and of course will always be. A great many delegates wanted to abolish the probate court and give the Circui tCourt jurisdiction of probate matters. That plan has been adopted in Iowa and meets with the approval of the people. But Missouri has always had a separate probate court and it was considered inadvisable to abolish it. There is but little need for such a court in counties that compose a circuit in themselves. But where there are several counties in the circuit it is different. Changes can be introduced gradually and if they prove beneficial can be univarsally adopted.

The most radical departure is the formation of the Judicial Council. This provision was contained in the former report and was considered at that time. While a new thing it has been discussed by bar associations and writers for some time and, in principle, has been in effect in other jurisdictions. The custom has been to give the power, that is vested in the Judicial Council, to the Supreme Court alone. The whole scheme is an outgrowth of the English Judicature Acts. The first of these acts was passed in 1873 and the second in 1875. The custom had been to regulate the practice of the caurts by acts of Parliament the same as the practice of our Courts is regulated by the General Assembly. There was as much complaint about the laws delay in England as there is in Missouri now. There was equally as much complaint about "technicalities." Much of this complaint is not justified and much is. But there is no longer complaint in England or Canada. Their proceedure is very simple and questions of practice are hardly ever considered by the higher courts, while in Missouri a large part of the time of the Supreme and Appellate Courts is taken up in the consideration and decision of questions of practice and proceedure.

English Courts Simple

The appellate proceedure of the English and Canadian Courts is the personification of simplicity. In other words it is common sense proceedure. Ours is so highly technical and artificial as to be absurd. A number of the states have given the power to make rules of practice and proceedure to the courts. Michigan does this by constitutional provision and Colorado, Florida and other states by statute. The judicial council idea has been advocated by a number of professors in the schools and colleges of law, but, so far as I know now, Congress is the only body to attempt to adopt the plan. The Federal Council is to consist of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court and the Presiding Justices of the Circuits. The Judicial Council, as provided for by the report is to be composed of the Chief Justice and the Presiding Justice of each division of the Supreme Court, the Presiding Justice of each of the Courts of Appeal and two Judges of the Circuit Court. They shall have power to prescribe the rules of practice and proceedure and perform such other duties as may be prescribed by law. There was some objection to placing this power in the hands of the Supreme Court, as has been done in other states, and so this Judicial Council plan was adopted. If it proves to be half as beneficial as similar provisions have been in other jurisdictions the committee will have earned the everlasting gratitude of the people of the state. This report will soon be before the convention again and no doubt an effort will be made to destroy the whole plan.

However it has stood the test once and I am hoping it will do so again. In my judgment it is a splendid report, one of the best that has been brought in and I am hoping that it will not be butchered up as so many have. If it stands the test of a second reading I may have something more to say about it as I am very much interested in it and hope to see it become a part of the organic law of the state.

Very truly,
M. E. Ford.

Stanberry Man Shot in Kansas City

Suitor Shoots Self When Fiancee Persists In Washing Clothes

Because the girl he was to marry declined to drop some washing she was doing and devote her time to him, Harry Tindall, 39 years old, a machinist for the Wabash railroad at Stanberry, shot himself just below the heart in a room at the Mercer hotel in Kansas City yesterday afternoon.

The girl, Miss Edna Marsh, 18 years old, also of Stanberry, is being held by the police of that city. Tindall is in a dangerous condition at the General hospital, in Kansas City.

Miss Marsh told the police Tindall had asked her to stop washing and devote her time to him. When she insisted on finishing the washing, she said he seized her, but she wrestled herself free an dran into the bath room. She said she had resumed her washing when she heard a shot.

The girl rushed back into the room and found Tindall lying on the bed, a revolver in his hand and a bullet wound just below the heart.

She said she had been staying at the hotel with Tindall since July 24. They had come to Kansas City to be married, she said, but Tindall had postponed the wedding several times. They were to have gone to St. Joseph for the ceremony yesterday afternoon, she added.

Tindall told the police he shot himself, but refused to give a reason. He had been married once, Miss Marsh said, because she had heard him speak of a former wife and a 17-year-old daughter. She said she believed that they had been divorced.

The man has a wooden leg, but he was not wearing it when he shot himself.

The young woman said her mother had consented to the girl's coming to Kansas City to be married. Tindall threatened to kill himself several times in the year she had known him, Miss Marsh declared.

Charles Childress of Brush, Colo., who has been visiting here since Saturday at the home of his brother, Cabell Childress, will leave tomorrow for his home.

They have continually said that Mr. Harding needs restful sleep to cure his nervous exhaustion and strengthen his weakened condition following the attack of ptomaine poisoning. This sleep, it is indicated, will do the chief executive greater good than any other single thing.

The President got several hours of sleep before midnight. He awakened then for a short period then slept until nearly 7 o'clock this morning when the sun of another bright California day began to filter through his window.

His valet and Dr. Boone were sent for and they found him in a cheerful and rested condition.

The physicians, all of whom spent the night in the hotel, as they have since Harding became ill, assembled shortly after 8 o'clock this morning for the usual examination and consultation.

The President may see his first visitor today since his illness became serious. Attorney-General, Harry M. Daugherty, long his friend and intimate political associate, is due to arrive here this morning and it is understood that he will be permitted to see the chief executive.

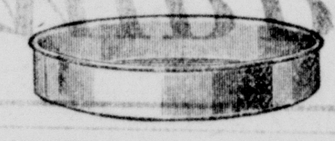
MIRRO
The Finest Aluminum



This Splendid MIRRO

Aluminum Cake Pan

Special 29c Regularly 50c

Don't miss this bargain! The makers of MIRRO, the Finest Aluminum, have authorized us to offer a limited number of their regular 50c, large size, deep, round cake pans for 29c.

This is to show you what real quality is in aluminum ware, and why there is so much more economy and satisfaction in high class MIRRO, made of tough, hard, thick metal, than there is in ordinary, thin, flimsy, aluminum.

As we have only a limited number of pans, we have sent coupons entitling our regular customers to buy one pan each at this great saving. But if we missed you, or if you want a pan even though you have not traded with us before, come in or call us up right away, and we will try to reserve a pan for you. Don't wait! This bargain is too good to last.
